- It is the member's responsibility to ensure their membership is current and that their contact details are current.
- Riverton Aquanauts Inc shall not be held liable for any loss, damage or injury suffered or occasioned by a member as a consequence of the entry to the premises of the Riverton or Cannington Leisureplex and/or the use of any facilities, equipment or programs within these premises.

Trial period for New Squad Members

- A three-month trial period applies to all new squad members, starting from the date they are first enrolled in the squad program.
- During this period, the Club reserves the right to terminate a squad member from the squad training program if the member is not deemed a suitable fit based on the values and behaviours outlined in the Club Handbook and the Squad Participation Policy.
- Any decision to cancel squad membership will be supported by a written report from the Head Coach and will be made with approval of the Core Committee.
- If a squad member has their enrolment terminated, then the 30-day notice period will be waived.
- If the squad member is also a RVA Club Member, then the Club Member will be responsible for finding a new swim squad and initiating their membership transfer in Swim Central within 14 days.
- Swimmers may not remain as RVA club members if they have been withdrawn from the squad program.

Fitness to Swim

The Head Coach has the discretion to determine whether a swimmer is fit to swim, considering their physical condition and emotional state.
